iWash My Face

Ah sleep...my drug of choice. What sucks worse than not sleeping enough? Having to wake up from a nice, cozy, toe curling slumber. To arouse ourselves from our hibernating, most of us have devised some pretty unique ways of getting our collective asses out of bed. One of the most common rituals is to crank on some upbeat tunes and splash water in our crusty faces. Italian fixture makers WET have devised a way to get your groove on while you wash dried saliva from your face with this "X-Light Surround" basin, the first "musical" washbasin. Designed by Jan Puylaert, the X-Light Surround basin comes with a built-in amplified speaker system for your iPod. Toilet subwoofer not included.
